

This website meets all of the requirements and specifications that have been laid out for us throughout the semester. Each page has a navigation bar that can bring you across the entire site that is consistent across the website. The 4 required pages are as follows: Index, About Us, Our Services and Contact Us. I implemented two jQuery plugins, animstion and Magnific-Popup. Animstion is what causes the fadeout effect when the user changes pages, and I am quite happy with how it turned out for the final product. Magnific popup lets the user select any picture on any of the pages and the picture will be displayed as a popup with the page still shown behind it. This plugin is used on every page besides contact us as there are no images on that page. I utilized the J-Query Accordion UI widget on the "Our Services" Page to let the user get more information about different vinyl "pressing" types, this accordion starts with all three options closed. On the About Us page, I used two AJAX get requests that populate the Meet The Owners part of the web page with information about both of the owners. These AJAX requests pull the data from two different JSON files, phil.json and josh.json.

Accessibility Principles and Guidelines:

- Non-Text Content: All images have a text alternative that describes the image.
- Page Titled: All pages are properly labeled and titled so that users can easily figure out the topic
- Multiple Ways: For most of the web pages, there are more than one ways to access them. Take for instance on the home page, you can either select "Learn More About Our Services" or "Our Services" from the navigation bar, and they will both lead to the out services page.
- Reading Level - Level AAA: The required reading level for each web page is not too high or complicated to avoid anybody being overwhelmed or not understanding the content properly.
- User of Color - Level A: Color is not used to convey information or prompt a response on any of the web pages.

Since I met all of the requirements for each submission throughout the semester, I was not given any critiques as I received perfect grades for the previous parts of this project. I feel that I properly met all the previous requirements for Assignments 1, 2 and 3 and that the website was accurate to my vision and the stakeholder's requirements and requests.

As stated above, my website absolutely meets the needs of my stakeholders and I am sure they will be quite satisfied with the final product. It is up to the stakeholders but I will assist them in updating some of the placeholder images with actual images of their pressing plant when it is open and running and can also assist them with getting the Shop page up and running, which I decided not to focus on for this project.
